

DynaPep® Energy Announces New Distribution Partner

DynaPep® Energy creator of the world's first Supercharged Energy Micro-Shot today announced that it has signed a new distribution agreement with Big Y®, a family friendly food company serving Massachusetts.

Lisa Krinsky, DynaPep® founder, commented "We are honored to be partnering with Big Y®, a great food chain that supports families and communities through their positive outreach programs. DynaPep® will now be available to consumers at 60 locations in Massachusetts. It is so important to offer quick Energy to all of our customers at convenient stores in their communities."

About Big Y:

Big Y® is a family owned and family oriented retail food company serving people's at home food needs. Their goal is to exceed everyone's evolving expectations by constantly seeking better ways to create and deliver World Class service and value. In addition, Big Y® offers an annual scholarship program which awards over 300 scholarships to high school seniors totaling more than $250,000 each year. About DynaPep®:

DynaPep® is the manufacturer and distributor of the world's first Energy Micro-Shot. Packaged in a liquid 4ml twist-off top ampoule, its time-released suspension ensures hours of long lasting energy without the jittery "crash" that other products cause. This is the result of active ingredients derived from natural sources without the help of sugar and the Micro-Shot contains less caffeine than 1 cup of coffee.

DynaPep® products are available in over 40,000 locations in the United States. For more information, visit <http://www.dynapep.com> for details.
